

ASHEVILLE, HOUSING, AND HOMELESSNESS

Think of an "eye-opening" moment in your life, a moment where you realized a truth about injustice in the world. What was this moment like? Were you on a mission trip? Volunteering somewhere? Making a new friend? In a class? Reading a book? How did this moment or information shape you? What did you learn from it? How did it impact your character?

- Jerry shared statistics about the cost of housing in the Asheville area. How did these statistics make you feel? Were they surprising to you? Why or why not?
- Jerry identified that we are all much closer to experiencing homelessness than to being a millionaire. How did this land with you? How does it shape how you view homelessness and poverty?
- Kathy talked about how we can move from learning about injustice into acting to correct it. What ways can you get involved in local justice in your area? What problems do you see that need addressing?
- Kathy spoke to the importance of relationships and reflection in discerning where God is calling you. Are there relationships in your life that have shaped your calling? What was it like to get to know that person? Did you expect it to shape your calling?
